PLANTING & DIVIDING

Plant spring-flowering bulbs. The rule of thumb is to plant bulbs 2.5 times deeper than they are wide. You can plant and transplant trees and shrubs as well as dig & divide perennial herbs and flowers.

GARDEN MAINTENANCE

To protect tender plants from the damage of early frost and extend the harvest for veggies, cover beds with burlap, boxes, blankets or even newspaper! Prune shrubs and vines to allow airflow in the winter.

LAWN & GRASS

The first 2 weeks are an excellent time to put in a new lawn. Cool weather with rainfall is ideal for grass seeds to germinate and become established. This is also a good time to core aerate existing lawns.

FIREWOOD PREP

Green firewood can harbor beetles that pose threats to garden trees. Eliminate beetles by piling wood into stacks no larger than 4x4x4. Cover with clear plastic or bury the edges and tape the seams.

Fishing Magician

Dave Jayne

Reach Dave @ www.FishingMagician.com or FishBoy@nwi.net

"The Outdoor Insider"

The fall Chinook season is going great guns right now. The launch area above the Vernita Bridge looks like a gold rush town. Fishing for kings above Priest Rapids Dam will improve as more fish move upstream, and the opportunity for catching Coho this fall is terrific.

The most popular fishery in Central Washington is in the Hanford Reach for fall Chinook. Every year the number of anglers that fish the stretch of the Columbia River at Vernita is so great that the launch site takes on the look of a small town. Before daybreak there is a long line of trucks and trailers lined up to put boats in the water to fish the many known areas of the river that produce catches of fall Chinook. That's why I will dedicate the Fall issue of my free E-Letter to fishing for fall salmon. In the E-Letter subscribers will find detailed descriptions of the best places to fish, the tackle that is being used by successful anglers and the techniques they use. There will be maps, video information and photos that give anyone who plans to fish the Hanford Reach the best chance for success. In addition to the very detailed feature on fishing the Columbia River for fall salmon, I will also list several of the other opportunities for fall fishing for other species. If you aren't currently receiving the free E-Letter, just go to my website, www.FishingMagician.com, and click on the E-Letter logo on the Home Page.

While putting together the free Fishing Magician E-Letter for Fall, it occurred to me to check on the Coho return to the upper Columbia. I am so glad I did. I pulled up the graph that shows the ten-year average, last year's return and how many fish have passed over Priest Rapids Dam this year. Holy cow! This year's return to the upper Columbia is huge! It could be a record. Coho salmon have been released from the National Fish Hatchery in Leavenworth for several years, thanks to the Yakima Tribe. It looks like their efforts to re-establish Coho in our region have really paid off. Fishing for Coho could be off the charts good this fall, so I am adding information about how to fish for them in my Fall E-Letter. I landed my first Coho while fishing the Icicle just below the hatchery back in 2021, and there will be a lot more of them this year. I bet fishing for Coho is going to be great in the main stem Columbia off the mouth of the Wenatchee River. We need more water in the Icicle before the fish will move into this area. This week's photo is of the first Coho I caught on the Icicle River a few years ago.

I mentioned in one of my reports last week that I expected to hear about the opening of Coho season on the Icicle River very soon, and it happened. Anglers will be able to fish the very popular area of the Icicle that is 500 feet below the Leavenworth National Fish Hatchery, and it seems like, an area further upstream that I don't recall being open before. That area is from the shoreline markers where Cyo Road intersects the Icicle at the Sleeping Lady Resort to the Icicle Peshastin Irrigation Footbridge, approximately 750 feet upstream from the Snow Lakes Trailhead. Also, the minimum size of the Coho you can retain is 12 inches. Fishing with bait, including scents and flavors is prohibited. There is a night closure in effect as well. Barbed hooks are allowed, but not the two pole endorsement. The river level in the Icicle is like last year at this time. We will need some rain and colder weather to raise the level of the river to encourage fish to move up the Wenatchee and into the Icicle.

The news about the Coho season in our region just gets better and better.

The Icicle River opened to fishing recently, and so did fishing for Coho on the main stem Columbia River. You can now keep Coho from Priest Rapids Dam all the way up to Bridgeport. Like the Icicle the daily limit is two adult Coho. If you haven't tried fishing for Coho, you may want to get a copy of my free E-Letter for fall fishing. I cover fishing for Chinook in the Hanford Reach, as usual, and I have added several pages dedicated to fishing for Coho.

If you aren't on the list to receive the E-Letters, just go the fishing magician website and click on the logo at the top left-hand side of the Home Page. I'll make sure you get a copy.

You will find that fishing for these Coho isn't that difficult, and the numbers that we expect to return to our area are huge. If you haven't tried it this would be the year to do it.

In a recent report I talked about the opportunity to see Sockeye salmon on their spawning beds in the White River. The record return of these fish to Lake Wenatchee has created viewing of them nothing short of spectacular. There are thousands of them on the gravel bars of the White River. I found an excellent place to see them that is about 3.5 miles above the bridge where you turn to go up the gravel road on the south side of the stream. There are a couple of other great places to see returning salmon very soon. My wife and I visit a deep hole below the bridge near the old campground in Tumwater Canyon. There is a pull out on the right-hand side of the road and a short walk next to the highway to see Chinook salmon resting in this deep pool.

A while ago I was passing through Brewster and decided to visit Mike Mauk at the Brewster Bait & Tackle Shop. I thought I would find things anglers would use to catch Chinook in the Brewster Pool. There is a great selection of this type of gear, and a whole lot more. He has tackle for every kind of fishing we have in this area. Also, he sent me a note recently letting me know that he now stocks nightcrawlers from Andy the Worm Guy. Stop by, you'll be surprised.

Candle Safety

Candles may be pretty to look at, but they are a cause of home fires - and home fire deaths. Remember, a candle is an open flame, which means that it can easily ignite anything that can burn.

"CANDLE WITH CARE"

- Blow out all candles when you leave the room or go to bed. Avoid the use of candles in the bedroom and other areas where people may fall asleep.
- Keep candles at least 1 foot (30 centimetres) away from anything that can burn.

Think about using flameless candles in your home. They look and smell like real candles.

IF YOU DO BURN CANDLES, make sure that you...

- Use candle holders that are sturdy, and won't tip over easily.
- Put candle holders on a sturdy, uncluttered surface.
- Light candles carefully. Keep your hair and any loose clothing away from the flame.
- Don't burn a candle all the way down — put it out before it gets too close to the holder or container.
- Never use a candle if oxygen is used in the home.
- Have flashlights and battery-powered lighting ready to use during a power outage. Never use candles.

Candles & Kids and Pets

Never leave children or pets alone in a room with a burning candle. Keep matches and lighters up high and out of reach, or in a locked cabinet.

FACTS

- ! December is the peak month for home candle fires.
- ! More than one-third of home candle fires started in the bedroom.
- ! Three of every five candle fires start when things that can burn are too close to the candle.

5 TIPS TO HELP SELL YOUR HOME FAST THIS FALL - Part 1

Spring gets all the attention when it comes to homebuying. However, homes sell year-round. And despite the headlines, millions of existing homes are sold monthly. So, if you need to quickly sell your home this fall so you can enjoy your new home, consider the following tips:

Manage Halloween Décor

One of the joys of homeownership is personalizing your space. Homeowners tend to liven up their spaces at or around October in preparation for Halloween. However, overly dramatic outdoor displays, loads of fake cobwebs or huge collections of pumpkins crowding the entryway may "scare off" potential buyers. The same general principle applies to all fall décor too.

Maintain Curb Appeal

You'll want to ensure your home looks inviting as soon as potential buyers catch a glimpse of your home. Make sure your house number can be read from the street, and remember to keep your sidewalks clear, with all fall leaves raked up.

Light it Up

As fall and winter approach, it starts getting darker outside earlier. If prospective buyers tour your home in the early evening hours, ensure there is as much light as possible, so the house looks warm and inviting. Consider adding floor lamps in the darker areas of your home or ask your realtor for staging recommendations.

Selling your home in the fall doesn't have to be a headache. With a bit of preparation, you'll soon be settling into your new home. For more information on buying and selling a home, contact the Central Washington Home Builders Association, or any of the Realtors you see advertised in the Exchange! And be sure to watch for part 2 of this article next week for more tips!

LAKE CHELAN HOSTS 'MAHOGANY & MERLOT' OCT. 4-6

Chelan, Wash. — Mahogany & Merlot Vintage Hydroplane and Boat Show is an annual 'on-the-water' boat show and free family-friendly event! Each year they showcase Vintage Unlimited Hydroplanes Antique & Classic Mahogany Runabouts from the Golden Era of pleasure boating. See them running exhibitions all weekend long, Oct. 4-6.

Imagine a dozen big Unlimiteds thundering through the waters, recreating the action of earlier years. We are talking about boats like Miss Wahoo, Miss Budweiser, Miss Burien, Miss Thriftway, Atlas Van Lines, Pay 'n Pak and the newly restored Notre Dame! These same raceboats, now beautifully restored and preserved, will return to Lake Chelan this October. Hydro exhibition races will begin early Friday morning (weather permitting!) and continue on Saturday and Sunday mornings.

You will also have the opportunity to purchase a "Pit Pass" to enter Thunder Alley presented by the Hydroplane & Raceboat Museum so you can get up close to the boats and talk to the crews!

On Saturday only, Mahogany & Merlot will once again continue along 'Mahogany Row' at Don Morse Park & Marina on beautiful Lake Chelan. Presented by the PNW Chapter of the Antique & Classic Boat Society, meticulously restored Antique & Classic Mahogany Chris-Crafts, Centurys, Gar Woods and other makes from a bygone era will line the docks for your viewing and voting pleasure.

In between looking at all the hydroplanes and boats, browse through our Vendor Village presented by The Hydroplane & Raceboat Museum, with vendors offering an array of art, crafts, local produce, gifts, clothing, one of a kind items, vintage goodies and more. Don't forget - you can also enjoy all the action from our beautiful Lakefront Beer & Wine Garden!

There is so much to do at Mahogany & Merlot! Make plans now to come and enjoy a perfect weekend with the perfect entertainment. MahoganyAndMerlot.com

BE FEATURED IN A "CHAMPION'S PROFILE"

Each year the for the past several decades the NW Motorsports Report has shown the spotlight on racing champions with profiles on point leaders.

Now, as the 2024 season is wrapping up it is time for an entirely new collection of profiles.

You will be able to appear in tens of thousands copies of The Exchange classified paper that is circulated across Eastern Washington, Lewiston Clarkston Valley, North Idaho & Wenatchee/ Moses Lake areas to tell your story — and give your sponsors added exposure.

Champion's profiles are run at no charge so make sure you email nwmotorsports-report@gmail.com or text 509-220-8018 for details on how to promote your stellar season.

Here's what a typical Champion's Profile might look like.
