Fishing Magician

Dave Johnson

Reach Dave @ www.FishingMagician.com or FishBoy@nwi.net "The Outdoor Insider"

I got out on the water a couple of times this week, looking for steelhead at a couple of areas on the upper Columbia River. I had disappointing results, but it was great to shake the rust off after so many years of not being able to cast a bobber and jig for steelhead. I also got a chance to fish for walleye on Potholes Reservoir.

My wife Eileen was very excited when I told her that the upper Columbia River was going to open for fishing for steelhead. Casting bobbers and jigs along the shore at Bridgeport was her favorite of all the kinds of fishing we have done over the years. Even when the winter weather was cold and nasty she would bundle up and be ready to hit the door with the promise of watching her bobber disappear and a steelhead leaping in the air by the boat. Although this area of the river wasn't open, Friday she still wanted to try for a fish elsewhere. We drove up to Pateros and fished Coyote Rocks and the point across from there. We spent some time below the bridge, where the Methow enters the Columbia and even explored a ways upstream. We only learned of one fish being caught from another boat. There was hardly any current, which always makes "catching" difficult on the Columbia. Eileen didn't mind not getting a fish, she had a great time just being out on water. I was impressed that, like riding a bike, her casting and mending skills were excellent. Hopefully, when the water cools and more fish move in, the fishing will improve. This week's photo is of my wife Eileen casting her bobber and jig above the Coyote Rocks below Pateros.

Rollie Schmitt and I have spent many days over the years fishing for steelhead on the upper Columbia, and he was excited about the opportunity to fish the opener on Wednesday. We left my house before sunrise to be on the water early at Wells Dam. We have had some great days here casting bobbers and jigs off the bar and pulling plugs along this same shoreline. There was one other boat at the bottom end of the bar and even a fly angler casting here, too. We got in a few good drifts without a bobber going down and then switched to plugs. We were able to make one long drift, all the way down to below the powerlines. On our second attempt, I couldn't get the boat to go downstream. The current had stopped dead, and the wind was blowing us upstream. We quit just in time as the wind really picked up. When we pulled the boat, the fish checker reported that the four boats he checked hadn't landed a single steelhead. Still, it was great to be out after them. We'll give it a little time and hopefully conditions and fishing will improve.

If you saw or heard my report for last Thursday, you learned that the steelhead fishing was very poor below Wells Dam. The four boats that were checked at the boat would guess the Methow.

It was a beautiful day on Potholes Reservoir last Monday. It was also a holiday, and I guess the fish decided to take the day off. Brian Neilson, Lou Larsen and I left the launch at Mar Don Resort and headed out to the fishing grounds that Brian knew intimately. We have both had great success catching walleye in this area, northeast of the State Park. However, we were only able to take one walleye and a small largemouth bass here. We really expected to catch more walleye and a bunch of bluegill, crappie and even catfish while trolling our bottom bouncers and spinners baited with nightcrawlers. It was dead calm, which didn't help.

We tried another area at the top end of Medicare Beach and put one more walleye in the livewell. The highlight of the day was when Lou landed the biggest largemouth bass he had ever caught—in 30 feet of water!

The next day I got a note from Brian, and he fished Potholes on Tuesday with two clients for his guide service. They landed two walleye that were over 20 inches and six "eaters". Just bad timing on my part, I guess. Maybe the walleye bite is picking up on Potholes after all!

I have been getting some good reports on the trout fishing in our region. The mild fall weather has encouraged many anglers to hit the water. I wanted to remind those anglers that are fans of fishing for trout that the Washington State Department of Fish and Wildlife Trout Derby continues through the end of October. Here's where you can still catch tagged trout in the lakes in our region by county. In Chelan, Beehive Reservoir and Wapato Lake have tagged trout. In Grant, tagged trout have been released in Corral, Deep and Vic Meyer. Okanogan County tagged trout are in Conconully, Spectacle and Wanacut lakes. Curlew Lake in Ferry Country has tagged trout. In Spokane County tagged trout were released in Badger, Clear, Fish, Liberty and Williams lakes. There are still prizes to be claimed by anglers who catch and turn in the tags from the fish they catch in these lakes.

Outdoor Electrical Safety

Lighting to improve the look and safety of our homes, electric tools to make our outdoor work easier, and power lines to our home, all need to be handled with care.

Outside Electrical Work

- Have a qualified electrician do all electrical work.
- To prevent an electrical shock, make sure all your outside electrical receptacles are GFCI (ground-fault circuit interrupter) protected.

Equipment Safety

- Use lighting and power tools that are listed by a qualified test laboratory and make sure they are made for outdoor use.
- Store your electrical tools indoors.
- Keep electric tools away from children.
- Keep the area around your electric meter and other electrical equipment clear.
- Check lighting and extension cords for damage before using. Replace any damaged cords right away.
- Use extension cords that are listed by a qualified test laboratory and are marked for outdoor use.
- Extension cords are not meant for long-term use.

POWER LINES

Have a professional tree cutting service trim branches that might fall on electric wiring. Use a wooden or fiberglass ladder outside. Keep the ladder at least 10 feet away from power lines. Never touch anyone or anything in contact with a downed wire. Power lines may be live, stay a safe distance away. Report downed wires to authorities right away.

NOXIOUS WEEDS

What is a Noxious Weed? They are non-native plants that have been introduced to Spokane County through human actions. Because of their aggressive growth and lack of natural enemies, these species can be destructive, competitive, and difficult to control.

SPOTTED KNAPWEED

SPOTTED KNAPWEED (CENTAUREA STOEBE)

A perennial with one to several upright, branched stems, growing up to 3ft tall. Leaves and stems are covered in coarse hairs. Flowers are purple to pink, sometimes white. Buds from in early June and each flower head produces 25-35 flowers. Bracts have comb-like fringe along edges with dark tips. Sturdy taproot; seeds fall within 3-4ft of the plant and remain viable for 10 years. Hand pulling is feasible on small patches, ensure roots are removed. Mowing will reduce seeds. Several species of insects have been used to control Knapweed population.

JUDY WRIGHT 2024 CHAMPION'S PROFILE

Judy Wright, a face behind the championship.

Judy Wright climbed four spots to the top of the standings to win the 2024 championship in the Powder Puff Class at Qlispe Raceway Park. Wright dethroned 2023 title winner Heather Eller who was second this season.

Wright grew up at the track and her dad, Jim "Sugarbear" Clark raced for years at Spokane Raceway Park. "I still race every race for him," she said.

"Now my husband and I have a race team called #fatkidracing. His name is Ron and he drives a 1979 Mustang and he finished 3rd in Sportsman this year," Wright said.

Wright races through the help of a variety of sponsors including her husband, Sugarbear racing and JJ American designs.

"I think the key to winning any season championship is being consistent, being at every race and trying your best," Wright wrote in an email.

Wright won 3 out of the 7 races and went past first round in all other races except one.

Powder Puff is an all ladies class of bracket racers where the competition can be quite varied.

"One day I could race a 12-second Mustang or a 20-second Hyundai," Wright explained.

She races a 2017 Kia Sportage, called "Scarlett," and while she describes her ride as "super slow," but the driver is somewhat consistent on the tree and top end.

"I run 17.50-18.50 depending the weather or how the wind is blowing," she said with a laugh.

MOTORIZED SNO-PARK 2024-25 TEMPORARY CLOSURES ANNOUNCED

OLYMPIA — The Winter Recreation Program at Washington State Parks will be temporarily closing 14 motorized Sno-parks for the 2024-2025 season.

The parks are being temporarily closed for the 2024-25 winter season, due primarily to a roughly 25% reduction in funds available from snowmobile registrations to support the motorized part of the program.

The number of registered snowmobiles has decreased by 52% over the past two decades, from a high of 38,331 in 2002 to 18,434 in 2024.

The following motorized Sno-Parks are slated for temporary closure: Echo Valley, Skate Creek, Bethel Ridge/Soup Creek, Crow Creek, Cloverland, Elk Heights, Fish Creek, French Cabin, Nile, Taneum, Reecer Creek, Crawfish, Nine Bark, and Clear Lake.

Closure of 14 of 89 motorized Sno-parks represents 16% of Sno-parks serving snowmobiling trails across the state.

The snowmobile program is self-funded from snowmobile registration fees and a percentage of the gas tax. The program currently receives $94.20 per registered snowmobile.

Funding per snowmobile registration:
$50 Snowmobile Registration Fee
$45.20 Gas Tax (135 gallons (average yearly fuel usage per snowmobile) x 34.9 cents per gallon of gas x the annual number of registered snowmobiles.)

Funds are used to pay for services at motorized Sno-parks such as snow removal, sanitation, education, enforcement, and trail grooming.

The Winter Recreation Program worked with the Snowmobile Advisory Committee, local snowmobile clubs, and managers of lands on which the Sno-parks are located to finalize the list of Sno-park closures. The principal goal was continuing operation of the most used Sno-parks and preserving access to the broader network of groomed snowmobile trails. Discussions addressed the feasibility, practical limitations, and implications of closures, including the following considerations:

- Other nearby Sno-parks accessing the same trail system
- Recommendations from land managers, local grooming councils, and clubs
- Popularity and use levels determined by user server data
- Previous closure or contractor availability
- Elevation and typical snowfall

The closures are for the 2024-25 winter season, pending future funding availability. The program is continuing to work with the Snowmobile Advisory Committee and stakeholders to look at the long-term future of the snowmobile program.

Sno-parks slated for closure are designated and funded for motorized use. Designated non-motorized Sno-parks supporting activities like snowshoeing or cross-country skiing are not impacted by this decision.

IS IT TIME TO REMODEL OR RELOCATE? Part 1

There is always something on a homeowners to-do list, from changing air filters to finally repairing that leaky faucet. You may tackle a big project on your to-do list, such as a kitchen renovation or upgrading aging appliances. Modernizing your home can come with a hefty price tag. Depending on the scope of your project, it might be time to move on to a house that better suits your needs. To help you evaluate if you should invest in a home project or start saving for a new house, start by asking yourself the following questions:

1. What's my budget?

Crunch some numbers to determine what you're financially ready to spend. Remodeling can be an excellent investment and save you the hassle of moving. But it requires a great deal of patience and flexibility. On the other hand, buying a home can be instantly gratifying, but the actual costs of buying (and selling) – such as commissions, closing costs and moving fees – need to be part of the equation, as that is money you won't get back.

2. Is the layout of your current home conducive to a remodel?

Do you like your kitchen, but a load-bearing wall prevents you from making it your dream space? Or your perfect bathroom would be attainable except for space constraints? A professional remodeler can provide you with creative solutions to your layout needs. Conversely, a remodeler can help you determine if a dramatic remodel is attainable. Another consideration is zoning laws. If you're planning a large project, a professional remodeler can tell you if any zoning restrictions would affect the remodeling project you envision.

To connect with a professional remodeler to help determine what updates are feasible for your home, contact the Central Washington Home Builders Association, and keep reading the Exchange each week!
