CLARKSTON HIGH SCHOOL CLASS OF 2025

Safe & Sober Graduation Party

PO Box 244, Clarkston, WA 99403

Each year parents at Clarkston High School put on a drug and alcohol-free graduation party for the senior class. This year's Parent Committee is busy fundraising and soliciting donations to give the graduates a great send-off on June 7, 2025. The committee relies on the generosity of the community to help make the Safe & Sober Party a success.

There are several ways you can help:

Donate Gift Certificates, individual items or Gift Baskets

Please help us make the evening memorable for every student who attends by donating gift certificates and/or actual items (individuals or in a gift basket) that we can give away as game prizes or in a raffle

Donate Money

We will use monetary donations to help offset events costs and purchase prizes and raffles items for the Safe & Sober Party. The Class of 2025 has approximately 175 seniors and our goal is to have at least one item per student. In previous years, over 85% of graduation seniors attended this event. Any size cash donation will be a big help.

For questions and donation forms, please contact CHSbantams2025@gmail.com - This is monitored daily and you will receive a prompt response.

To donate, please fill out donations forms which can be requested via email and return it to "Class of 2025 Safe & Sober Grad Party, PO Box 244, Clarkston, WA 99403".

Thank you in advance for your support of this fun tradition for Clarkston High School Seniors!

Fishing Magician

Reach Dave @ www.FishingMagician.com or FishBoy@nwi.net "The Outdoor Insider"

I got out and about a bit last week. I spent some time in Moses Lake and Grand Coulee Dam. Activity is low during last week's chilly weather, but I am sure there were a lot more people out on the weekend at both of these areas, rain or shine.

I was in Grand Coulee late last week, so I had the opportunity to check on one of the spots where anglers fish nearby. Just down the hill on the righthand side of the road you will see a gravel road that leads down to the water. Crescent Lake is at the bottom of the hill, and across the dike is Crescent Bay on Lake Roosevelt. This is where you will often find a number of anglers, casting from the beach. Right now, the lake is still pretty full, but there is a nice stretch of sandy beach exposed. Many anglers set up folding chairs, and after casting far out into the bay, place their rods in holders and settle in to wait for a bite. There are days when they don't have to wait too long, and it is not unusual for them to get their five fish limit. Lake Roosevelt receives a plant of over 700,000 triploid rainbow trout almost every year, and they average about 16 inches. I have a friend who fishes here often, and he landed a trout from this beach that was 24 inches long. He uses a nightcrawler and marshmallow combo for bait.

I had a meeting in Moses Lake last Wednesday afternoon, so I grabbed my gear and got there early to do some perch fishing. I set up on the rip rap bank near the cut under the bridge and went to work. I had two rods rigged and baited with nightcrawlers and settled in to watch for bites. I didn't get any. I saw one angler leave with nice stringer, and soon another angler came down and started fishing about 20 feet away. He started hauling in fish and after fish, sometimes getting two on one rod. I was still not getting anything, even though I was using the same rigging and bait. He invited me to come over and fish next him, and things changed. For the life of me I don't know why I couldn't catch fish where I started, but now I was landing perch. One was a 12-incher. I can't thank Oscar, the angler, enough for turning my day around. Discouraged doesn't adequately describe how I was feeling before Oscar showed up to save the day. I left with a big bucket full of perch that ranged in size from 9 to 12 inches—Yum! The perch action is the best in years. Everyone hopes the fishing will hold up when Moses Lake freezes. This week's photo is of my new friend Oscar with a perch.

When I was checking on some of the fishing opportunities in the Moses Lake area, I went over to check on Medicare Beach on Potholes Reservoir. On a sunny winter weekend, this beach will have anglers scattered along the black sand, sitting in folding chairs, with their rods in holders. Rainbow cruise along this shoreline and will suck in the baits cast from the bank. Most often the baits being offered are a marshmallow and nightcrawler combo or some various color of Power Bait. There are picnic tables at intervals on the beach, and even a couple of vault toilets nearby. I found the toilet open and clean when I was there. To reach Medicare Beach, take Highway 17 south from Moses Lake and take a right on Road M SE. A few miles up the road look for Road 6 SE. Take a right here and continue to Road J SE, and the entrance to the public access. A Discover Pass is required here. It was cold and foggy when I was there last Monday, and I wasn't surprised that no one was there. However, when the sun is out this is a popular place to spend some time fishing for rainbow. Another very good place to fish for rainbow from the shore this time of year is at Spring Canyon Park, which is just two miles up

Some 93,500 young winter-runs that had been reared for release into the Washougal River are instead swimming around sprawling Banks Lake near Grand Coulee Dam, "adding diversity to an already dynamic fishery," according to the WDFW. It's a result of deal a reached between WDFW and two litigious organizations, Wild Fish Conservancy and The Conservation Angler, in September over several hatchery programs on the Lower Columbia. It's also the second lawsuit settlement affecting Washougal hatchery steelhead production in the last 10 years. Typically, lawsuit settlements require WDFW to place steelhead smolts into waters where they can't inadvertently reach the sea. A 2014 deal between WDFW and WFC over Puget Sound early winter steelhead saw the state release 370,000 smolts into Sprague Lake and 255,000 into Rock Lake.

This go-around, WDFW said it considered releasing the Washougal fish into Rock Lake, as well as Moses Lake, Potholes Reservoir and Riffe Lake - the latter of which would have been more germane to Southwest Washington steelheaders — but landed on Banks "as the best location due to its size, habitat suitability, and existing sport fishery." Banks essentially fills a formerly dry valley between Grand Coulee Dam and Coulee City and serves as an irrigation tank for the Columbia Basin. WDFW says its 28,000 surface acres will provide diverse habitat and plentiful forage for the steelhead, its cooler water temperatures won't poach them in the summer, and it will add to a destination reservoir already popular for its walleye, bass, lake whitefish and other species. "Because these fish originated from anadromous steelhead, many anglers may find this particularly appealing, knowing that they're fishing for a species with a migratory heritage, popular for their size and fighting spirit. For WDFW, this release also represents a commitment to maximizing the use of hatchery fish in a way that aligns with recreational goals while supporting conservation efforts in critical river systems," the agency took pains to state in their blog. WDFW also stated it had successfully released steelhead as well as salmon into Banks in the early

I usually get out after rainbow on either Lake Roosevelt or Rufus Woods this time of year, and with the terrific perch fishing, I have some great options.

CASEY CAVENDER: STATELINE EARLY STOCKS

Casey Cavender from Naples, Idaho set the stage for success in 2024 with the Motion Auto Supply Early Stocks at Stateline Speedway by winning three of the six series races and adding a pair of runners-up. As luck might have it, "2024 was my first full season in an Early Stock," Cavender

Cavender also set fast time in every race and set a track record at the Wenatchee Super Oval as he finished with a 46-point advantage over John Brueher from Othello,

"I started racing when I was about 10 years-old in go karts at the road course in Spokane," Cavender wrote in an email.

From there Cavender moved to dirt karts at Sunset Speedway and won championship in 1998. He took a year off before starting in Hobby Stocks at age 15 at Stateline Speedway.

Cavender's work took him to California where he raced Street Stocks at All-American Speedway in Roseville from 2004 to 2011.

He moved home in 2012 but didn't get back into racing full time until 2020 in the Hobby Stocks. Cavender won the 2022 Tri State Challenge Series Hobby Stock championship in 2022.

Cavender wants to offer "A big thank you to Idaho Welding & Supply in Bonners Ferry, Idaho, JJ Moore, Micheal Cossiart, Caleb Taylor, the whole Early Stock class who are more like a family than competi-

He said the biggest thanks goes out to his wife Tori and daughter Harper.

Tori Lavender also raced in Early Stocks, her first ever season racing anything and finished fifth in points.

NWSLM'S RELEASE 2025 SCHEDULE | From K. Peters, NWSLMS Media

Spokane (Dec. 16, 2024) - After a successful 2024 season, the Northwest Super Late Model Series will head into its' 12th season of competition in 2025, with a schedule that will include eight races at six different venues throughout the Pacific Northwest.

The series is excited to return to four tracks from the 2024 schedule, with two additional facilities returning to the schedule from previous years.

The eight-race schedule will lighten the load for the teams in the Pacific Northwest, hoping to compete for the championship.

The series will begin its' 12th season at Tri-City Raceway RMEC (WA) with the 56th Annual "Apple Cup 125" on April 6th. It will be the fourth consecutive season opening appearance at the triangular ½-mile. $10,000 was paid out to the winner in 2024.

The 10th Annual "Leonard Evans Memorial 150", at the Wenatchee Valley Super-Oval (WA), will take place on April 26th.

The traditional event has been on the schedule since the series inaugural season in 2014, when the event was known as the "Apple Blossom 125".

The series will then move to Findlay Stadium Stateline Speedway (ID) for the "SLS 125" on May 17th. It will be the fifth consecutive season the NWSLMS has scheduled this event at the Post Falls, ID

Round #4 will see the series return to the 1/3-mile at Magic Valley Speedway (ID), for the first time since 2021, and only the scond time in history

The Twin Falls, ID facility will host the ries championship.

series on June 21st for the "MVM Hall of

On July 18 & 19, the NWSLMS will make its' debut in the "Summer Showdown 200" at Evergreen Speedway (WA). The event paid $30,000 to win in 2024 and will be the sixth time the NWSLMS has visited the facility, but the first time since 2019.

Michael Holden won the "Central Welding Supply 125" over a 22-car staring field, on the inner 3/8-mile, in the series last visit. It would be the series second start on the 5/8-mile circuit.

The traditional "Labor Day Spectacular" at Hermiston Raceway (OR) will take place on August 30th. The event dates back to 2019, when Trevor Cristiani earned his only win, in his championship season.

The longest running annual event for the series is up next, with the 12th Annual "Neal Newberry 125" at the Wenatchee Valley Super-Oval. The event has been on the schedule since the inaugural 2014 season and was not a victim of Covid-19 in September 20th will see the NWSLMS return to the 1/4-mile oval where Owen Riddle scored his fourth series win in 2024. The season finale will once again take place at Tri-City Raceway RMEC, this time on October 5th. It is the fourth consecutive season closer for the NWSLMS at TCR.

The 38th Annual "Fall Classic 200" will pay a minimum of $10,000 to the winner. 32 Super late Models appeared in 2024 with a record-breaking field of 38 Super Late Models in 2023. Kasey Kleyn took the rich win in 2024, clinching his first se
